March 2022

Props to our Pollinator Supporters for a Successful Late February Planting Event

Upcoming Events

March 19: Park Cleanup

Together, we can make a cleaner, safer and more welcoming environment for our neighbors and others who use our park. We'll bring gloves, tools and garbage bags for this event, which runs from 9 - 10 a.m. We'll also have roll-offs at the park for those who want to tidy up their properties.

April 2: Yard Sale Fundraiser

We're raising money for our latest project to beautify one of the prominent entrances into our neighborhood. You can help in two ways: Donate some items for the sale and come visit the sale from 8 a.m.-noon to pick through the treasures. Either way, we'll be closer to our goal of raising $1,500. More inside! paloverdepark@gmail.com

Going to the Wall for Art

Some might call the concrete wall spanning the culvert at Kolb and Langley an eyesore. We call it a canvas.

Angela Pittenger, our neighbor and resident artist who painted the children's wall at the park, has worked up a design for this key entrance into the neighborhood. The center will be our logo, surrounded on either side by a burst of sunny flowers.

We'll be holding fundraisers to raise $1,500 for the project, starting with an April 2 yard sale.

If you're reducing clutter and can part with a few items, ping us at paloverdepark@gmail.com.

Be sure to stop by the sale from 8-12 at Jessica and Cooper that Saturday!

Got an Hour to Spruce Up the Park?

We routinely hear from visitors that our park feels clean, safe and welcoming.

Let's keep it that way!

We'll bring the tools and bags on March 19 from 9-10 a.m. You just bring a little muscle and a bit of sweat equity.

It's a chance to make a positive difference in a short time and we'll have a cleaner park to show for it!

5 Ways to Help

Join our watering effort: The trees in the water harvesting basins and the young native plants in the pollinator garden need some handwatering support for the next two years. Join our plant hydration team to help water once a week in the summer.

Pull a goathead: They're pernicious and formidable foes. But they underestimate our commitment.

Ask a neighbor to sign up for the newsletter: The more of us who get involved, the stronger our area will be. We share the latest events and information.

Tell a local business about the work we're doing: We're always looking for new sponsorship or partnering opportunities.

Use the park: A well-used and well-loved park is a safe park. The more activities and engagement, the better.
