STORMWATER PROJECT COMING TO PARK

Xochitl Coronado-Vargas, Public Outreach Coordinator for the City of Tucson's Storm to Shade program, presented preliminary plans in January for a green stormwater project on the Langley parcel. The project will capture storm flows to support native trees and shrubs, which will complement the pollinator garden and other native vegetation on site. More details on final plans and a timeline to come!

Don't Miss ParkFest 2023!

What: Live music, food trucks and fun!

Who: We're finalizing the lineup now but watch our website and social media channels for band information.

When: Sunday, March 26, 2-6 p.m.

Where: Three different stages across the park

The fine print: Bands work for tips, so please share your appreciation.

One Hour = A Prettier Park

Join us April 8 for our annual park cleanup!
We'll bring the bags and tools. You just bring your positive energy. And if you have items around the house to dispose of, we'll have three rollofs around the park for the whole weekend. Please no tires, appliances that use Freon or hazardous materials such as paint, fuel tanks, or batteries.

We're looking forward to strengthening our neighborhood and connections!

Got ideas?

We're planning upcoming events and need your help!

1) We're contemplating a May music series on Sunday afternoons. Give us a shout if you know any musicians we might recruit for our effort.

2) We heard from the audience last meeting that they'd like to know more about rainwater harvesting. We're working on finding a speaker on that topic for July. We're still planning out our August and September meetings too. If there's something you'd like to see in the mix, ping us!
